AN PROPERSONNEL TOURNAL DEVOTED TO HAWAIIAN PROGRESS.

PUBLISHED AND EDITED BY HENRY M. WHITNEY.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 19.

His Majesty took passage for Kudua, Hawaii. on Monday, at 4 o'clock P. M., in the steamer Kilonea, which left her wharf punctually at that hour. He was accompanied by H. R. H. Chus. Kansins, H. M. Queen Downger Emms, H. R. H. Rath Keelikolani, His Ex. Gov. Dominis and wife, Mrs. Cleghorn, His Chumberlain, H. G. Crabbe, Dr. Trousseau, Col. Juild, and others. After leaving Mani, the steamer will proceed direct to Kailua, where the Royal party will land early this morning. The steamer will then proesed on her regular trip to Hilo, returning to this port on Saturday.

Invalids who have resurted to that sec tion have, in some instances, by julicious and temperate exercise, regained their health, which could have been preserved in no other place. Yet, notwithstanding its fine chunte, the population to very rapidly decreasing, in part by migration to the more populous and attractive busness centers, so that there is little inducement for strangers to visit its forsaken villages, rocky shores and stony fields, except for health. His Majasty has been unable, while remaining in Honolula, to recover from his protracted illness as rapidly as was unticipated, and all will join in the hope that his health may be restored by a shurt anjourn in the quiet home of his ancestors.

> THE OFFICIAL announcement and despatches which appear in to-day's issue, will doubtless meet the approval of all who understand the postical issues to which they relate. The Pearl River scheme, as first brought to notice, contemplated only a logse of so much of that harbor as might be necessary to make a naval depot, and only for such time as a reciprocity treaty might remain in force. Any one, by referring to the GAZETTE of February 26, will find this fully confirmed. Subsequent discussion entirely enanged the main feature of that proposal by substituting a cession of territory, which was never fully endorsed by those who brought forward the original. It was this point of a cassion of territory, which was taken up by political agitators, who succeeded by filling the native mind with fears of contemplated massacres, an entire loss of country. and by exciting projudices against the foreign races, in creating a hostility against foreigners which no efforts have been able to remove. Fanned by unprincipled demagagnes, who have worked with natiring zeal, the projudices and bad feelings of the simple natives have been rogsed to an extent which might easily have columnated under the leadership of these agitators, in open rupture. This is unquestionably the result which certain parties have been seeking to bring about, rather than see the measure canvassed before the people. In this sute of things, His Mojesty's milvisers have noted discreetly in adopting the only course left for them-to abandon the policy which the almost mammous sentiment of the foreign population, expressed in various ways, had led them to adopt. In this way, they have removed the chief, if not the only argument that political agitators can advance to foment ill-feeling and disturbance between the native and foreign races of this group, and thus restore the harmony that has so long existed between them, for the interruption of which there has been no sufficient

As a general rule, a ministerial crisis only follows a decisive parliamentary defeat, or serious disagreement among its members. In the case of His Mejesty's Cabinet, there has not of late (if common report is reliable) been that perfect harmony which the country has the full right to expect from his constitutional advisers. Some of them-perhaps all-retain their portfolios, not so much from choice, as from the argent solicitation of the King. But it may now be a proper question for consideration whether a recon struction of the cabinet at the present time, provided perfect harmony can be secured by the change, would not strengthen the Government. and result advantageously to the whole country.

A Lecture,

Prepared by Mr. II. Holstein, was read before a small audience on Saturday evening, at the vestry room of the Fort Street Church, by Mr. H. L. Sheldon. The subject treated was one of general Interest.-THE AGRICULTURAL PROSPERITY OF THE anour-and we were sorry to see so lew in attenlance to lessen to it. After referring with patriotic praie to the fact that he in common with nany others felt that this was to be his home for life, the lectarer drew a vivid nicture of our island life, and showed how dependent we formerly were on the whaling fleet for our material prosperity. That dependence is now simply transferred to the sugar interest, and with the depression of that all shared slike. Our only relief he muntained, is in a varied agricu ture, -not in one branch alone. He then examined the causes why our agriculture has not developed. Among these was lack of labor, lack of intelligent population and capital, the rapidly increasing periods of drought, and the apparamable extravagance of the people, in importing what we can produce here just as well. He instanced potatoes, of which he said that from 1,500 to 2,000 bags will be raised on Maus this year, but the cost of getting them from the field to the consumer, was so great that California potatoes can be imported doct. The *ketch of dronkenness among the natives, as drawn by the lecturer from personal observation, was anything but encouraging to our prosperity. It is no wonder, when such orgies prevail, that death's harvest among them should be so plentiful. But the most interesting part of the discourse was what pertained to increasing drought and sterility on these islands, and his plan for checking it. Had we space, we would copy his remarks entire, as they were really instructive. We can only insert one paragraph, reating to his memorial to the Legislature of 1870. which was published at the time. His words, then uttered, were almost prophetic:

DROUGHT AND STRRILITY .- Drought is the evil that during the last five or six years has prominently appeared before our eyes, although its gradual progress for years is distinctly marked out to the careful observer, and I venture to assert, that there jare few that have been closer observers of the phenomena of drought and rain than myself. In the Commercial Advertiser of June 25th, 1870, I addressed a memorial to the then assembled house of Legislature upon the danger threatening these istands from drought. At the same time I submitted to the Chairman the most liberal and disinterested proposal to restore to the Nausau river a full supply of water within five years by replanting the valley, and predicted that unless something were done son Honolula would be without water, except brackish well water, in less than ten years. How far my prediction will be verified I leave to you to answer to day after only three years have clapsed out of the given ten years. My proposal I might say of course vall y to the left would have contained to-day at lenet twenty thousand nearly bearing coffee trees and some two hundred thousand encalyptus would have this day thrown their lengthened shadows over what would have been an unexhaustible reservoir of water. By leaving places open for roads the people of Honolula would have been in possession trees would have brought an annual revenue. Quos Deux walt perdere, prius dementat, should be written upon the escutcheon of the Legislature of 1870, and tills day their thanks for what water supply they enjoy. That the above is not an idle boast only, those woo have known me for years, will, I think, readily edmit, when judgment, knowledge and experience

The provisional government of Trochu and Jules Favre, which followed this disaster, terminated with the election of Thiers as Chief Executive of a magnificent park, and the product of the coffee in February, 1871, and his powers were prolonged three years by a vote of the Assembly in September. His resignation was rejected by the same body in January, 1872, but May 24th, after less than three years tenure of office, he was unceremoniously onsted by a coalition of imperialists, royalists and the disaffected generally.
